

Abstract

A fastening element for plastic containers, comprising a plurality of first bushings interconnected by connecting bridges, and a fastening system for liquid-proof flanging or attachment of plastic containers for liquids, wherein the fastening system comprises a fastening element having a plurality of first bushings, interconnected by connecting bridges, and a flange.